The Mystery of an Unknown Suicide

Associated Press Leased-wire Service.

PACIFIC (Mo.,) Aug. 14.—The mystery surrounding the unknown suicide, whose body was found in the river near this place on August 10, is about cleared, so far as his identity is concerned. It is learned that his name is Edward Hird, and that he lived in Jefferson county, about ten miles south of Cutawissa. His hat and other articles from his person have been positively identified by his family. No cause is assigned by them for the deed.

On July 20 he left home on hore On July 30 he left home on horseback. The next day the horse came home, the stirrups thrown across the saddle and the bridle reins fastened behind the saddle. A note was attached to the saddle, in which he said he had borrowed $50 from a friend, and that he intended leaving the country and his friends, without them ever again seeing him. It will be remembered that this was the nexten who at the saddle. ever again seeing him. It will be remem-bered that this was the person who at-tempted to rob the express car on 'Frisco train No. 3, near Valley Park, on the night of August 2, and created consid-erable excitement on that account.

SOME OF ITS TERMS.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—The treaty with China, which was ratified by the action of the Senate, prohibits the coming of Chinese laborers to the United States for the next ten years, upon conditions specified. The restriction is not to apply to the return of such laborers as have lawful wives, children or parents in this country, or who have properly here of the value of $1000, or debts equal to that amount, due them.

The departing Chinamen are to secure, before leaving, a certificate from the collector of customs of the district from which he leaves, testifying to the fact that he has deposited with the collector a description of his family, property or credits, and this certificate is to entitle him to return to the United States. In case the description, proves to be false, the right to return shall be forfeited. It is to be exercised within one year, but in exceptional cases may be extended for another year.

Democratic Leaders Trying to Find Themselves.

Discussion on the Supplemental Bills Today.

President Cleveland Writes Again to Mr. Wilson-A Very Nice Letter.

Much Pressure to Be Brought to Have the Tariff Bill Signed— More Revenue Expected-Senate Proceedings.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.-The Demo cratic leaders of the Senate have occupie considerable portion of the day ing to determine what course to pursue with reference to the supplemental tariff bills. The Democratic steering committee adjourned, trying to determine upon the most advisable policy under the circumstances, and, previous to the meeting the conservative Senators had a confer ence on the same subject.

It is understood the conservatives adve cate the reference of the Finance Committee, while the steering amittee is apparently somewhat divid on the question. Appearances all indithe Democratic Senators would like have the bills passed, if they could feel assured that their passage would not reduce the government revenues to too great an extent. The interest in these bers ten days to print tariff spee bills, as in the main tariff bill, is in the sugar question, and it is to the free-sugar bill that they are giving their persons attention. There is an evident tendency on the part of a majority of Democratic Senators toward amending the sugar so as to make it a revenue bill, pure and simple, and as it is now the programm of the Democratic leaders to amend the bill, there should be a prospect of its becoming a law, reducing the duty, making it uniform, and striking off the differential on refined sugar. The reduction would depend upon the figures which the Treas amount of revenue it will be no amount of revenue it will be necessary to secure from sugar under the new tariff Secretary Carlisle was at the Capito while the conference was at the Capitol while the conference was in progress, and was asked to supply his estimate, which he promises to do. A leading member of the steering committee each the opinion that a duty of 25 or 30 per cent. on sugar would afford all the revenue from that source that would be It would appear that so far the only definite arrangement is for the discussion of the bills at tomorrow's session, if it jection to force the bills to a third read-ing tomorrow, and it is probable that a large part of the day will be given to debate on a motion to refer to a commit-tee. This will serve to develop the real intentions of the Republicans toward the bills, and also to possibly develop what differences there may be in the Democratic party. The steering committee has not yet formuly taken up the question of formally taken up the question o ter has been informally discussed by the members of the committee, and it is he lieved the selection will be made thi week. The names of several Senators are mentioned in this connection, the frequently heard being Senators burn and White.

It is understood that if the supplemental tariff bills should be reported from the Finance Committee they will be debated, and an effort will be made to load them given notice already of an amendment for the repeal of the income tax and others are understood to be in course of preparation, one of which will provide free silver coinage and another for free lead ore. Meantime Republican Senators are doing all they can to promote an early ad-journment, and some of them freely confess that this is the principal reason for opposing the further extension of last year's appropriations in cases where the not taken effect, which was voiced by Sen ator Aldrich in his objection to the con-sideration today of an extension resolution. They also, in addition, desire to secure at as early a date as possible an agreement on the remaining appropriation bills, in which many of them are interested.

A MOURNER'S CONSOLATION. NEW YORK Aug. 14.-A World dis patch from Washington says that Chair-man Wilson has received a letter from President Cleveland, which was written immediately after the announcement of the decision of the House to pass the Senate bill. The letter is personal, but pa-thetic, and contains a highly significant reference to the present attitude of the Democratic party on the issue of the tariff

Cleveland says that as soon as h heard the news of the decision to pass the Senate bill he immediately thought of Mr a brief note expressive of his feelings, realizing fully the great effort made by Mr. Wilson to bring about a different resuit; he knows his disappointment must be keen; though, not to despair, and says that he, too, has felt greatly disappointed at the outcome. At one time, the Presi-dent says, he had begun to doubt whether health. The President urges him not to be cast down on account of defeat, but to de-vote his thoughts to regaining his full forces in order that he may continue the fight for the tariff reform in which the President assures him that he will always me looked upon as a gallant leader.

THE NEXT STAGE.

THE NEXT STAGE.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—As the House of Representatives adjourned until Wednesday, the tariff bill cannot be sent to the White House until tomorrow. It will be enrolled and carefully compared today, and tomorrow will receive the signatures of Speaker Crisp and Vice-President Stevenson. A great deal of pressure will be brought to bear on the President to induce him to sign the bill, but the statement made by the Associated but the statement made by the Associated Press yesterday that it is his intention to let the bill become a law without his signature, can be reiterated today. A member of the Cabinet said today that if the President should conclude to affix his signature to the bill it would be signature to the bill it would be ac-

IMPROVED CONDITION AT PITTS-

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 14.—The passe the tariff bill has already made it felt here by a marked revival of b ness. Stocks in all lines of manufacts have been reduced to a minimum, et have been reduced to a minimum, especially iron, steel and glass. Today large orders were received by local manufacturers, and more are expected. It is asserted that a slight reduction of wages will be necessary in the case of glassworkers, tin-plate men and workmen in some branches of the iron and steel trade, but the scales generally allow for reductions to fit the tariff changes.

SPEAKER CRISP. WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.-The Hou resentatives was not in session today, and most of the members were at home resting from the labors of yesterday. Speaker Crisp and a few members were about the House. Mr. Crisp said the ex-pectation was that the Senate would act upon some of the separate tariff measures for free sugar, free iron ore, etc., before the adjournment, and for that reason the close of the session would depend a good deal on the Senate. Moreover, the rule adopted in the House yesterday had given

Under the conditions the Attorney-Genal proposed that if the executrix would tive any rights she might have by reaa of the premature bringing of the suit would gladly consent to have proceedhe would gladly consent to have proceed-lags begin at once. No conclusion has yet been reached, but it is expected no objec-tion will be made to that course, especially as a speed adjucation of the claim would be in the interest of the estate. The suit also would determine the status of the government's claim against C. P. Hunting-ton and others, and on the whole, an early settlement of the claims would be to the interest of all concerned.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—The director of the Geological Survey has submitted his plan of operation for the present fiscal year, to the Secretary of the Interior, who has approved it. Special attention is to be given to the survey of the mineral-bearing areas of Colorado, Idaho, and rnia. The topographic work will be d forward in twenty States, a large of attention being devoted to the region of the interior and to the Pacific Coast.

Thirty-two topographic parties and twenty-seven geologic parties will be in the field, five of them being employed in the Rocky Mountains and their foothills. The gauging of streams and the determination of the water supply of the United States, including the examination of underground currents and artesian wells, for an important branch of the work.

the consideration of the Sundry Civil Appropriation Bill late today, and will report an agreement tomorrow. The Senate will recede from its amendment, appropriating $150,000 for public buildings at Bolse, Cheyenne, Helena and Spokane.

The House will accept the amendment of the Senate for land surveys in the States of Washington, Idaho, Montana, South Dakota and Wyoming, in regard to soldiers' additional homesteads.

The amendments containing the donation of 1,000,000 acres of land to aridiand States, for the encouragement of irrigation, remains in the bill, but in an amended form.

The conference committee will take up the General Deficiency Bill at 10:30 o'clock and will soo be able to report it.

Government Wards.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—The House Committee on the Judiciary decided today to report the bill introduced by Delegate Smith of Arizona to transfer the criminal smith of Arisona to transfer the criminal jurisdiction over reservation Indians in the Territories from the Territorial to the Federal courts. Reservation Indians are considered government wards and the people of the Territories regard it, as an injustice that they are burdened with the expense of trying for criminal offenses those who are not tax-payers.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Police Captain Glori of Newark, who is Fitzsimmons's backer, received the following telegram from William A. Scholl of the Olympic Club of New Orleans:

"Have wired Pugilist Corbett at Asbury Park offering him a purse of $20,000 to meet Fitzsimmons, the winner to take all."

Fitzsimmons has accepted the Olympic Club's proposition and Capt. Glori set about arranging for an interview with Corbett at Asbury Park to take place within the next few days. The news that Fitzsimmons has accepted the offer to fight in New Orleans was telegraphed Corbett this evening and the following anawer came:

this evening and the following answercame:

"I never saw the color of Fitzsimmons's money. Why does he not come out like a man and issue a challenge to the world, backed by cash? And if no one accepts it, then it is my duty to do so."

"I don't believe Corbett will agree to fight Fits," said Puglilist Peter Jackson when told of the movement to bring about a meeting between the men. "Corbett wants to be an actor and he won't be dragged into any more fights if he can help himself. I came all the way from San Francisco to arrange a fight with Corbett, and see how he has treated me. I have not been treated like a man. Corbett has been very unfair."

Jackson said as for himself he was making no plans for the future. He has fully decided to go to Europe.

A BROKEN SPORT.

Stapleton has been adjudged insane and consigned to the asymment and the had been looked upon as somewhat demented for a long time, but it was only recently that he was regarded as dangerous to himself or others. Stapleton was at one time a well-known sporting character on this Coast, whose exploits were heralded from Portland to Los Angeles and who had a reputation as a "blooded" gambler in Virginia City. Sait Lake and Denver.

Bad luck has pursued him for the past six years, but he bore up under the rebuilts of fortune until at last the strain was too great and his mental grasp was loosened. Among his former associates there is a sincere feeling of regret at the fact that the worn-out sport should find himself "on the down grade and not he able to reach the brake."

In his prime, when the fickle goddess was smilling on him Stapleton was somewhat noted as a man about town. He drove fast horses, quaffed wines of coatly vintage and went the pace at a killing gait. His most notable adventure was the winning of $15,000 at faro in one week. The greatest part of his winning was made of the firm of Ross & Webber.

"It seemed to make no difference how Stapleton put his money down," said a veteran faro-dealer last night. "If he played a card open it would win and if he coppered it, it was sure to fall next the box. But after all, that winning played havoc with him, and in the end resulted in his present unfortunate condition. When he got all this money he bought an interest in a faro game, which was well enough, but that did not satisfy his longing for gambling, so he got to playing against others banks on the outside, and his winnings quickly disappeared. It kind of broke his heart. I suppose. At any rate, he was never the same man again. Poor Bill, I am sorry he's gone out that way."

Associated Press Leased-wire Service.

NEW YORK; Aug. 14.—Police Justice Quigley of the Gates-avenue Police Court, Brooklyn, sentenced Otto Schruma, a teamster, to pay a fine of $50 for running down S. A. Smith of No. 14 West Ninety-sixth street, while he was riding his bicycle on Tompkins avenue, Brooklyn.

Davis Miller, who saw the affair, testified that Schruma had deliberately fun down young Smith. Smith was injured and his bicycle was smashed. Schruma's employer paid the damage to the wheel and then Smith caused Schrums's arrest.

Justice Quigley found Schruma guilty and said: "Too much liberty is being taken with bicycle riders by drivers, and is must be stopped. Bicycle riders have rights which must be respected. They are human beings and must be treated as such. Only recently a young man, the sole support of a widowed mother, was brutally cut down and his murderer escaped. I propose to make an example of you in this case and will fine you $50, in osfault of which you will go to jail for fifty days."

The Times has the following from Port Limon, dated August 12:

"The British warship Mohawk has arrived here with Chief Clarence and twelve refugees aboard. Bluefields has been retaken by 2000 Nicaraguan troops, who ar-taken by 2000 Nicaraguan troops, who arrived from Rama and Greytown on transports flying the United States flag. On their approach the United States flag. On their approach the United States marines, who had been on duty ashore, returned to their vessel. The resident Americans being thus abandoned became very indignant, and many of them removed the national flag from their houses and stamped on it in the streets. They then hoisted the British flag.

"On entering upon the government the Nicaraguan authorities hauled down and tore to shreds the Mosquito flag. They placed under arrest numerous Americans and Jamaicans suspected of being in sympathy, with Chief Clarence. The captain of the Mohawk landed a party of men and went to the prison and rescued every one there who claimed British protection. The Mohawk will await orders from home. Clarence will remain on board."

The suction of the water rushing into the partly empty calsson drew McMillan through the hatch. As he was drawn through he was struck in the ptt of the stomach by one side of the hatchway and on the forehead by the other, being knocked senseless. Prompt action by the man holding the life-line saved him. He knew somemthing was wrong by the quick running out of the line and immediately pulled the unconscious McMillan from the calsson.

Another attempt was made to raise the caisson this morning. Air was pumped into the big dam as the water was pumped out and it was raised about five feet. Then part of the deck opened. The caisson immediately filled with water and fell back into its old bed in the mud.

14 has been found that the mud has a strong hold on the caisson. Whenever it is raised a slittle a powerful suction is created, which interferes materially with the work. Practical mechanics here are censuring the yard authorities for their handling of the caisson. Another attempt was made to raise the SACRAMENTO, Aug. 14.—Director Barwicek of the California Weather Service in his crop report for the week; ending August 13, summarizes as follows: The average weekly temperature was for San Frâncisco. 58, Eureka 54, Red Bluff 77, Sacramento 72, Fresno 76, Los Angeles 66 and San Diego 64.

As compared with the normal temperature, the entire State, both coast and interior, show heat deficiencies which are as follows: For the Weather Bureau stations named: San Francisco and Euroka 2 deg.; Red Bluff, 5; Sacramento, 3; Fresno, 6; Los Angeles, 7; San Diego, 6.

The deficiency has been very beneficial to all growing summer crops, although retarding the rapid ripening of the raisin graps. Grain is about all harvested and nearly all threshed and the greater portion of the crop has been stored in anticipation of better prices in the near future. The fruit crop is an immense one, but prices are ruling low. Along the Sacramento River quite a number of orchardists have quit picking for shipment, fearing a gint in the Eastern market. Hops will be a good crop. Beans are being pulled or harvested and the crop wil be a light one. Beet-sugar harvest began at Chino and the saccharine percentage is good. Steamship New York Run Down by the Delarmo from Hamburg—An Exciting Incident Ends Without Loss of Life.

CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—At 2:30 o'clock on the night of June 21 last when about seven hundred miles out from New York, seven nundred miles out from New York, the steamer New York was collided with by the big iron ship Delarmo, from Hamburg to Baltimore. Some thirty yards of the side of the New York was carried away, while the American liner took as trophies of the collision nearly three tons of plate, the bowsprit, the figure-head and of plate, the bowsprit, the figure-head and various other accessories of the Delarmo. Both steamers sailed on their way, the New York keeping all her pumps going on her way to Southampton. An effort was made to keep the incident of the collision secret, and with signal success, for it remained for Artist Fred Dangerfield of the Chicago Operahouse, who has just returned from his European trip, to give the details of the affair.

"We sailed from New York for South-ampton on the steamer New York on June 20 last," said he last night. "On board we ampton on the steamer New York on June 20 last," said he last night. "On board we had the members of the 'Cinderella' company, bound for London, and one of them was an old friend of mine, Fred Eastman. I had been across many times, and I never go to bed early. That night, soon after midnight, Eastman and I were enjoying cigars on the lower deck. Eastman complained of being chilly and I suggested going to the port side. We went, and were looking out across the water. It was a clear, starlight night. Suddenly I saw a great shape loom up before us, apparently coming out of the darkness.

"What is that fellow trying to do?' I cried, and then I saw, and added: 'She'ill run into us; run like the deyil.' I shouted to Eastman and we started for safety. Just then there came the crash. I was thrown against the rail, and had both legs badly hruised. Eastman was not so quick, and he is even now laid up in London. He had an awful fall. Of course I thought of my wife. I ran to her stateroom and told her to hurry up and to throw on something. I must have alarmed here as she said I looked as pale as a ghost. Howher to hurry up and to throw on something. I must have alarmed here as she said I looked as pale as a ghost. However, she threw on a few garments and we went on deck. The lifeboats were swung out ready to lower, and the people tumbled up in scant attire, each one donning the cork life-savers. No one knew how badly we were damaged. We could see that the bridge had been partially carried away, and the seven-inch fron davits of the forward port lifeboat had been twisted like wire.

The captain summoned the ship's carpenter to sound the well. I stepped beside the man and watched him. He made careful examinations and said it was the same as it had been in the harbor the day before. This reassured us. Meantime we could see the big, black hull of the other ship near by.

"Who are you" one of the officers cried.

"The Delarmo from Hamburg to Baltimore,' came the reply across the water." Do you need any assistance?"

"No,' shouted our captain. He had head the sounding of the well.

"What ship is that?' came from the other steamer.

"The New York, for Southampton; do you need any help?" and there was a faint reply.

"Our people were pretty badly scared, and they wanted to go back to New York, but the skipper said he was all right, and he was going on to Southampton. We had slowed down, but there came a tinkle of balls and we found ourselves moving rapidly forward again. There was not much sleep on board for the rest of that night, I can tell you. The next morning, when daylight came we saw just how badly we had heen hurt. It must have been an awful blow, and it is a wonder we did not suffer more.

"We arrived at Southampton safely, but the pumps were working all the time, Bastman was badly hurt, and was ordered by the ship's doctor to keep his barth. Both his legs were badly bruised, I showed the captain where we had been standing when the accident occurred.

"Why weren't you killed? he asked.

"Aukt me an easy one, I replied.
"Aukt me an easy one, I replied.
"Aukt me an easy one, I replied.
The steamship people seem to have a way of keeping these little incidents under cover. I made a drawing of the hole in our side, and when I returned, hearing that the collision had not been mentioned here, I sent it to one of the illustrated weekiles. It was never used, which is such that the collision had not been mentioned here, I sent it to one of the illustrated weekiles. ne Chicago Speculator Handcuffed and Placed in a Cell—He Breaks Loose and Tries to Kill a Guard.

Associated Press Leased-wire Service.
CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—Strapped down to his bed, imprisoned by barred windows and locked doors, in a barren room on the fourth floor of the Washington Home, Plunger" Ed Partridge, who yesterday threw the Board of Trade into a turmoil by fighting with a doorkeeper, is undergoing a most rigorous treatment for alsoholism. He was brought to the home on Monday by his son, who was assisted by several friends. The nervy speculator had to be conveyed to the home in a closed carriage, and was placed in charge of the dectors only by main force. He became violent when he was being searched, preparatory to a protracted stay, and it required four attendants to carry him upstairs, and install him in one of the collrooms, which are reserved for the worst patients.

cellrobms, which are reserved for the worst patients.

Partridge is one of the most prominent men on the Chicago Board of Trade. Accounted a multi-militonaire, the proprietor of one of the largest dry goods stores in the city, and an operator of great nerve, he is a unique figure on the floor of the board. For months he has been on the bear side of the wheat market, and tris winnings on 'change last year are said to reach into seven figures. Partridge has of late worshiped freely at the shrine of Bacchus, and has created several scenes on 'change. A few days since he appeared on the floor in an unsteady condition, and threw money broadcast about the pit, raising such an uproar that he was suspended for sixty days. Yesterday he attempted to go on the floor, and, after a flerce fight with a doorkeeper, was finally carried from the building.

doorkeeper, was finally carried from the building.

At the Washington Home for Inebriates Partridge succeeded in creating as much excitment among the inmates today as he did on 'change yesterday. Immediately upon his arrival he was handcuffed and placed in a box-like apartment, with three blank walls and a grated window left to his gare. When the physicians and guards left thim, however, he put at naught their efforts to the his hands and feet. One little article on his person was overlooked by the cusbodians in searching him, a large locket attached to his watchchain. When the guards left him he managed to squirm around so as to reach the locket. This contained, a small sharp knife, with which he proceeded to cut his bonds. He soon parted the leather handcuffs and next broke the leather than the country of the substitute of the leather handcuffs and next broke the crowd:

strap tied around his feet. Partridge jumped up to his window and yelled down at the crowd:

"I'm Ed Partridge, that you all know. They are trying to rob or kill me. I'll give $500 to the man who will get my lawyer. For God's sake, help me."

As he continued his entreaties he got more and more excited, and said:

"I'll give you $600, $700, $300, $900, $1000. Fill give you $600, $100, $300, $900, $1000. Fill give you $600, $100 heaven. They are going to kill me. I'll give any one half my fortune if he'll get my lawyer."

The attention of the guards was attracted by the fearful yelling, and two of them went to the "Plungers" room to subdue him. The latter, when he heard, steps in the hall, made ready to brain some of his captors. He stood with a heavy wooden chair uplifted in his hands. As the door opened, and the head of the first guard approached, he brought his weapon down with a crash. The guard dodged just in time, and escaped the blow, but came very near being brained. He pounced upon Partridge, and, with the aid of his comrades, threw the "Plunger" on his bed and bound him. The attendants say that he is the worst case that they have ever handled, and they were much relieved when he had finally been strapped.

much relieved when he had finally been strapped.

The guards were afraid to get near the "Plunger" during the night, but his struggle, before he was subdued, had weakered him and he collapsed this morning. Before noon his only demonstrations were a few yells and series of war-whoops, which could be heard distinctly all over the house. This stopped and he then mumbled and tasked to himself and then fell into a sort of sullen stupor and went to sleep.

Superintendent Somerville was not inclined to be reticent about his patient today. "Yes," said he, "Mr. Partridge is confined here now and will probably he forced to remain with us for some time. He is suffering from a severe case of alcoholism and will require a long course of treatment before he will be cured. treatment before he will be cured. It is bur belief that we shall effect an uitimate and permanent cure, but just now he is not in a very encouraging condition. He cannot be seen at all, not even by his relatives. Neither his wife nor his son is permitted to go near him. He is by no means tame and that is the reason in itself for isoiscing him. But it would make him yorse to see his relatives."

"Does his mind seem at all affected?"

"Yes. In fact, his trouble now seems to be due more to a temporary derangement than to anything else."

This afternoon J. E. Deakin appeared before Judge Dunn with a petition for a writ of habeas corpus to compel T. Summerfield, manager of the Washington Home, to produce Partridge in court. The petition recited that the noted Board of Trade speculator was being held a prisoner in the Washington Home against his will. Judge Dunn granted the writ, and made it returnable at $250 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Partridge left the Washington Home tonight in charge of friends. Summerfield says his treatment was that usually accorded patients.

LONDON, Aug. 14.—(By Atlantic Cable.)
Andrew Carnegie has leased for a term of bwenty-one years Backhurst Park, in Sussex, the seat of Lord de la Warr, brother of Sir Lionel Sackville-West, with its extensive shooting park. The estate is one of the finest in England. It is famous for its varied scenery. Part of it is rich moorland, covered with a dense growth of bracken, while other parts are composed of magnificent betts of timber, containing many trees centuries old and little changed since the days of the Norman kings. In the lower part of the grounds are asveral beautiful lakes. The house stands on high ground. It is mostly a modern structure, built of stone and in castellated form.

Lord de la Warr has been pressed for funds of late and the place has been somewhat neglected, the park being overrun with rabbits. A talk with people at Withyhall showed that they are greatly delighted at having a rich American for the lord of the manor, in place of an impecunious peer. Carnegie is undoubtedly spending much money in the vicinity, and when here had his house full of visitors all the time.

A local baker was aswong the persons spoken to. He was asked: "Has Mr. Carnegie improved your business, too?"

"Indeed he has," the baker replied.

"Why, a few Saturdays ago I delivered fifty loaves of bread at the house, think-that supply would last until Monday, but they sent back for twenty-five more."

Other tradesmen had similar tales to tell. Mr. Carnegie has dismissed the steward and principal persons who had charge of the estate for years under Lord de la Warr. His lease includes not only the house and park, but all the farms and houses on the great estate. He has the option of giving up the lease at the end of fourteen years.

EMPORIA (Kan.,) Aug. 14.—Hon. J. D. Holden, formerly national president of the Citizens' Alliance, and the author of several works on the question, has a new work in press here, advance sheets of which were seen by the Associated Press representative. In it he denounces the attitude of the Populist party toward reforms, claiming that it can accomplish no good as it is non-organized and because, its creed is defective, and he says it must be rejected by intelligent people; that the attitude of the party leaders are such as to subject them to suspicion. He severely criticises the Omaha platform, as principally consisting of demands that are impossible of being compiled with, and which, if compiled with, would only result in making a bad state of affairs worse. He claims that the non-partisan Farmers' Alliance was betrayed at the Cincinnatti convention into a partisan clique of hunters after office, and this, in spite of the protests of Polk, Powderly, Beaumont and other true reformers. He declares that their steps must all be retraced, and the work of the independent organizations all gone over again, and the effort must be made to hold the balance of power as independent voters instead of Popullsts. If this is done, he declares that either or both of the old political parties will cease antagonising what is good in the reform movement, and that by holding the balance of power the Alliance can elect such men of either party as are pledged to reform movements.

The public are familiar with the ninetograph and the tachyscope, by the aid of which a great number of photographs of an object in motion are rapidly secured upon a strip of celluloid negative, and afterward reproduced upon a ground-glass plate in such rapid succession as to give the observer the sense of one object in continuous motion, being, which could be inspected by but one person at a time. Now the pictures can be thrown upon a canvas, so as to be seen by the largest audience. Supposing that it is required to reproduce upon a screen, say, twenty feet in diameter, any given object, a positive film or transparency, is printed from the strip of developed negative, and passed before the strong light of a stereopticon with the same rapidity with which the pictures were photographed. The result is startling, as the eye does not see the thousand pictures projected. They succeed each other so rapidly that the observer gets the sense only of one continuous picture, with the object in absolutely life-like motion. In this way the characteristic gait and actions of rare animals may be secured and made available for reproduction a hundred years hence, when the genus shall have become extinct. Even today, a reproduction of the swoop of the falcon on its quarry in mid-air, the deadly spring of the tiger in his native lair, of the lightning-like dart of the cobra's fang, which are now made possible, would be of intense interest.

THE VOICE AS A STUDY FOR THE THE VOICE AS A STUDY FOR THE ANTHROPOLOGIST,

A London journal recently suggested the establishment of voice museums, na-tional or municipal, and in connection with tional or municipal, and in connection with colleges and other corporations, for purposes of instruction and historical interest. It pointed out that the voice is no only an indication of character like the face, but that different people and races have characteristic voices which should be studied by the anthropologist. This view is confirmed by Melville Bell, who regards the tones of speech as worthy of scientific investigation. He shows that a foreigner can be recognized by these gards the tones of speech as worthy of scientific investigation. He shows that a foreigner can be recognized by these "tones," which are usually called "accents," although it is often more the tone, or tune, of his voice than his accent that we mean. All national speech, he says, has is characteristic tune, and this is noticeable in dialects in the same language, especially those with which we are familiar. As a rule, we are ignorant of our own "tune," a fact observable in the cockney tourist, who finds that Scotch folk "sing" in their talk, but never dreams that he also "sings" (and not very melodiously) to Scotch ears. An instance of this unconnectous intonation is given by a schoolmaster. He had been brought up mainly down South, in a section of the country, where certain words were pronounced with a marked nasal twang. He was quite oblivious to the fact that although he was teaching English every day, his pronunciation of those particular words was simply iniquitous. A friend urged him to take lessons in elecution, for the purpose of purifying his accent, and he consented to do so, not because he was sensible of his method of speaking, but that he thought his friend's advice good on general principles. On his next visit to New York he put himself in the hands of a well known elecutionist, and went through a course of special instruction. When he returned to his scholastic duties he was surprised to find that his pupils' pronunciation of the old familiar words sounded to him more like a bleat than a legitimate enunciation, and it was a long time before he could bring with more or less of a nasal twang, let him discourse for a while to the phonograph, and then listen to the sound of his own voice. He will hear queer inflections and mannerisms that he never before suspected in any case, and, if the nasal tone is there he will no longer be able to deny it. The phonograph is invaluable in the study of the voice, and many public speakers and actors, as well as professional singers, now

THE EFFECT OF POTATOES AS AN M. Aime Girard has been trying experi-ments with potatoes as a food for animals. Dividing nine large oxen and thirty-three Dividing nine large oxen and thirty-three sheep into six groups he fed one group of oxen on bestroot and, hay, another on half the weight of potatoes that the first had of bestroot and the same quantity of hay. The third group were fed on potatoes alone. At the end of two months the first group gained only about 380 pounds in weight, the second about 480 pounds, while the third, on potatoes only, had gained about 560 pounds. The first group of sheep, like the oxen, had bestroot and hay, the second potatoes and hay, the third potatoes alone, and while the first two groups gained about eighty pounds, the others adone, and while the first two groups gained about tion pounds. Another series of experiments, which were carried out by M. Cornevin, showed that raw potatoes increase the supply of milk, whereas cooked potatoes diminish it while augmenting the weight.

A SIMPLE WAY OF RIDDING A ROOM OF FLIES. OF FILIES.

G. P. Yule writes to a leading scientific journal that although he has five windows in his office he is never troubled in the least with files, and he gives a very simple method whereby a room can be kept free of those officious and tantafixing visitors. Place the frame on the outside of the window, with fhe wire on the inside of the frame. Nail on moulding at the bottom to cover the ends of the wires, but let the wire cloth extend over and nail on top of the frame. Put no moulding on the top of the fraide. If you will give the files a chance they will alight on the screens and walk up and out. Take any common window screen and place it on the outside, but instead of closing the space at the top, take a hammer and pull the top moulding off from the screen. Let the space be open between the top of the screen and the sash. When the window shade is drawn down half way or down to the top of the screen, the flies will be seen FOR MAN Bruises to go toward the light, walking up the screen and escaping outwards. All the files that come in from the screen door when it is open go to the window screens and thus go out. Only give the fly a chance, says Mr. Yule, and he will get right out.

A MACHINE FOR MAKING "SAND FACED" BRICKS. A MACHINE FOR MAKING "SAND-FACED" BRICKS.

The ordinary method of preducing "sandfaced" bricks is to first make the bricks by hand or machine, and afterwards roll them in the sand, finishing them in a press. This was a most tedious and expensive process, and the output per day under the most favorable conditions was ridiculously shall. A machine has now been introduced for "sand-facing," which is capable of turning out from 10,000 to 15,000 finished bricks per day of ten hours, the material being dealt with automatically from the time of being fed into the hopper of the machine to being discharged on the cutting-off table, a finished article of the best quality. The machine forms a complete plant in itself, combining in one the processes of hoisting, crushing, puddling and brick and tile-making. Where required the hoist and crushing rollers can be dispensed with. The most ingenious point of the machine is the sanding contrivance. The sand is placed in a hopper and distributed automatically over the whole surface of the column of clay by revolving spiral fans. As the now sanded column of clay issues from the apparatus it passes through rollers, which have openings of the length and breadth which the "green" brick is required to be. As the column of clay is being forced through this opening, the sand is pressel into its surface, and as the volumn moves onward it is cut into bricks of the necessary thickness, which are removed to the kilns for burning.

THE BROWNING OF OAKWOOD.

Oak as a wood for paneEng and interior THE BROWNING OF OAKWOOD.

THE BROWNING OF OAKWOOD.

Oak as a wood for paneling and interior decoration is now high in favor, and the effect most sought after is the rich, dark color which has always been associated with the oak furniture of old English residences. This dark color is obtained artificially, according to a French industrial journal, by submitting the wood to the action of ammoniacal vapors, which rapidly gives the tint that is in so much request. The wood to be operated upon is taken into a tight room into which no light can penetrate, and which is hermetically sealed. For small pieces of oak, a large box whose joints are closed with strips of paper carefully glued on, so that no vapor can escape, suffices. Into the room or box are introduced several flat glass vessels containing liquid ammonia, the vapor of which gives the tannin of the oak a very dark brown color, which penetrates below the surface of the wood. The depth of color will depend on the quality of the ammonia employed and the length of time of exposure to its fumes.

(New York Sun:) "Never under any circumstances marry a girl whose mouth turns down at the corners," was the advice given by the preceptress of a large school situated within a few miles of New York stych by the preceptress of a large school situated within a few miles of New York olty to a Sun reporter.

"I have been closely associated with a large army of young men and women for a great many years," continued the speaker, "and I have frequently given this advice. Many young men, students at the institution with which I am connected, imagining that they are in love, come to me for advice. I invariably first counsel them as I have spoken.

"Why? Because a girl whose mouth turns down at the corners is invariably of a sour, morcee disposition, with a very jealous make-up, and is certain to make the man she marries any amount of trouble through life. I have verified this assertion in a great many young lady students whose mouths have that unfortunate curl downward come for advice as to correcting the fault—I say fault, for I believe if any woman has a homely mouth it is her own fault—and I always tell them they must abandon all hope of effecting a cure by external means, such as pursing their mouths upward with their fingers, and look after the interior of their natures, examine and correct the dispositions which have caused nature to so mark and distinguish them that all men who know anything ine and correct the dispositions which have caused nature to so mark and distinguish them that all men who know anything about character-reading may at a glance know them for just what they are.

"The fault certainly can be corrected, and a young woman can change the shape of her mouth as certainly as she can the contour of her form, but, of course, it takes persistent and distermined work to do it, an exercise of will power that of itself is a lasting benefit in forming a perfect and loveable character, but I know whereof I speak when I say it can be accomplished.

whereof I speak when I say it can be accomplished.

"I have another theory also, which I think you will find interesting," continued the speaker. "It is that children very often inherit the suppressed desires of their parents. An instance or two will best illustrate what I mean. I know intimately a minister, one of the old-fashioned orthodox kind, who believe in following the strict letter of their creed more than relying on their own good sense of right and wrong. The man to whom I refer always had a burning desire to attend the theater, but the discipline he so conscientiously followed would not allow him to do such a thing, and he suppressed and held in check the desire.

"Often, when some great actor was announced, or some standard play was holding the boards, he would say to me: 'Oh, how I would like to go with you to the theater tonight, but I do not feel that I dare."

theater tonight, but I do not feel that I dare.'

"Now, that man," continued the preceptress, "married and brought a family of children into the world, and every one of them was perfectly stage crazy. They would sconer go to the theater than prayer-meeting any night in the week, although they had been brought up to give the prayer-meeting first choice. The desire which their father suppressed they inherited, and did not control as he had done.

inherited, and did not control as he had done.

"This theory I could illustrate by a dozen equally forcible examples, but it would be a mere repetition. Suffice it to say that I have yet to find an instance, that I was able to trace, that did not come as I have indicated. It is on this theory that I account for that time-honored saying that ministers' children are always the worst: In them crop out all the desires, which, perhaps, their parents had, but which they suppressed, or at least hid, from public view, so that the children should not always be blamed as much as they sometimes are.

should not always be blamed as much as they sometimes are.

"I will ease this matter up a little for some sensitive parents, by acknowledging that cussedness in children does not always indicate that it came directly from the parents; they may have inherited it from some other ancestor, or it may have originated with them, but the chances are that the parents are responsible for it, although it may appear to be directly contrary to their own natures."

"Soon the machinery was put in motion, the wheel moving so rapidly that the poor kitten could not escape. Indeed, it is probable that puss was soon unconscious from dizainess. A little computation shows the distance the cat traveled. The wheel moves at the rate of 250 revolutions a minute, and at every turn pussy went seventeen feet. As the wheel was kept in motion 330 minutes without stopping the kitten must have traveled during that time a little over 300 miles. When the wheel was stopped the kitten was discovered and taken out, more dead than alive, but it shortly recovered, and, although it has remained about the factory ever since, it is observed that it always gives the flywheel a wide berth."

"As for the damage to our corn crop, that has unquestionably been serious; but its should be remembered that the loss will fall chiefly upon two or three of the central Western States, which have ample resources of other kinds; so that the injury will not be so severely felt as if the damage had been in purely agricultural States. Then, taking the reports at their worst, and they certainly have been exaggerated, it still seems probable that we shall have as large a crop as last year (1,600,000,000 bushels;) so, without considering any possible improvement in the balance of the crop, the outlook is not so bad as it seemed. The very low price of wheat and the competition we are meeting with from other producers are discouraging; but this, too, has its offsets, for it will undoubtedly widen the consumptive uses of wheat, and has already forced a lower cost of production."

PENSION MONEY.

An Eastern exchange notes a decision of the Supreme Court that pension money cannot be attached for debt, even when it has been deposited in a savings bank. The statute exempts the money while it is in possession of the pensioner, and the court now holds that in depositing it in a bank it is no less in his possession than while it was on his person. The inviolability of the pension is an essential principle, for if pension money could be taken for debt it would break up the personal guardianship which the government assumes toward the pensioner, and which is of first im-

A REVIEW OF THE STRIKE.

We are in receipt of a pamphlet published by the Morning Advertiser of New York, entitled "Organized Labor's Demand," being an outline of the great railway strike, together with extracts from all the leading newspapers of the country.

Looking back at this extraordinary movement, which has already become history, perhaps the most remarkable idea which prevailed among these men beginning, and which was ared apparently by a considerable number of non-striking citizens who certainly ought to have known better. that the strikers, in their unreasonable and lawless course, could possibly prevail against the authorities, backed the full power of the United States In an interview with Debs on July 5, which is reproduced in this pamphlet, he spoke as follows: "The first shot fired by the regular soldiers at the mobs here will be the signal for a civil war. I believe this as firmly as I believe in the ultimate decess of our cause. Bloodshed will bllow, and 90 per cent. of the people the United States will be arrayed gainst the other 10 per cent. And I could not care to be arrayed against he laboring people in the contest or and myself out of the ranks of labor when the struggle is ended. I do not say this as an alarmist, but calmly and thoughtfully."

This shows that Mr. Debs was as of the most striking and outspoken expressions of newspaper opin-ion reproduced in this pamphlet are from the New York Sun, including the following brief editorial, which was written early in the strike:

"Suppose that all the railroads should succumb to the strikers and join the American Railway Union in the attempt to coerce the Pullman Company; what would be the result? Could they compel the company to resume work? The company has proved its unwillingness to work at the wages demanded by its former employees, by abutting up its shops. Can the American Railway Union and any amount of allies make Mr. Pullman open his doors and take off his coat? Can they lay a whip on his back, or stand over him with a club, or put him in jail for refusing to do as they say? Can they make him drink after they have driven him to water?

"We don't see how the strikers can help themselves by whipping the railwritten early in the strike:

"We don't see how the strikers can help themselves by whipping the railroads into their train. In fact, no steady eye can see anything in this strike, except an unparalleled indignity to the people, and gross discredit upon the trade union name, as every trade union member professes a desire to see it esteemed."

There is no doubt that a large number of people and many journals who took the wrong side in this strike look at the matter in a very different light now, and regret that they made such a mistake. Let us hope that the lesson will not be lost upon them, but that the next time an attempt is made by demagogues to work up such a law-less movement, they will find that they have a very insignificant following. Meantime, the operation of crawling back under the tent of Public Opinion s going industriously forward on the part of numerous weak-kneed and mber-backed newspapers, whose edit-rs got "rattled" at the supreme mo-ent, and made the preposterons blun-er of supposing that the mob consti-tted "the people," and that the United ld have to surren and his noisy gang. While these clanced and unreliable journalists and indecent haste, to get a line before they are ever-drummed out of camp by a free-trade character. It was not this so much that paralyzed business throughout the country and stopped wheels of industry, but the uncertainty in regard to the manner in which such a change would affect certain industries. Now that the ques tion has been definitely decided, we may expect to see a marked revival in manufacturing and every other form of commercial enterprise, while the vaults of the banks will be unlocked and a large amount of money will seek investment in productive industries. It would, of course, have been better if the McKinley tariff could have been let alone, but next to that, the best thing for the country was to have a definite settlement on some kind of basis. Repose is what business and commerce require in order to thrive. LABOR "LEADERS."

Labor strikes are wonderfully profitable for labor leaders, but it is surprising that the great class of intelligent American workingmen cannot perceive that as far as they themselves are concerned the strike is wholly de structive of all their interests.

Debs, while failing most signally as labor "leader," has been able, through the instrumentality of the boycott-which brought such heavy loss to the public, and which has added so much to the weight of taxation which the poor man with others has to bear-to feather his own nes most effectually, and lift himself above the necessity for future toll. In other words, according to his own statement, it promises to make of him one of that hated class whom he called upon Labor to boycott, and whom he would have fighting Labor regard as criminals and fit subjects for prev-namely, a wealthy capital-

Before leaving Chicago, after the strike had been declared off, Debs stated that he had been offered $200 per night for two hundred nights to lecture under the auspices of an Eastern lecture bureau, which offer he would probably accept. Here, then, to him is a clear gain of $40,000 for the inauguration of a conspiracy against the government, which resulted in the temporary prostration of the industries of the whole country: the destruction of a vast amount of property, an irreparable loss to the wage-earners, who were his dupes, and, what is more, the sacrifice of many lives, with no result to the workingmen of the country but to add to their burdens, to engender a feeling of bitterness and strife, and to increase the useless and uncalled-for antagonism between the two interde pendent forces, Labor and Capital.

Forty thousand dollars is the reward which is offered Debs for this, in addition to the salary which he religiously drew while his army, of workingmen were idle and suffering the burden of the daily loss of wages, which means for coming months want and privation in many homes, the continued absence of employment, and, as a result, bankruptcy and financial

When will the workingmen of this enlightened Republic cease to make the distinction upon which their leaders so harp, and which designates them as "the labor element," class distinctions existed in this coun try, where every man is a sovereign citizen, an equal unit of the great whole-equal as a law-maker and as a part of the government which the people constitute?

America is a nation of workingmen and he who works with the brain, guiding and directing the great industries upon which depend those who only with their hands, furnishshows signs of marked improvement ing the capital to which so-called in the East we may expect to see Labor looks for support in return for the work given, which is Labor's capital, is no less a toller than he who follows the plow, or guides the ironhorse across the mighty stretches of a continent. But the so-called labor leader is nothing if he is not an agitator, and he it is who is most active in creating and nursing prejudices, who talks most of these unnatural class distincmost of these tions, and sets up Labor in the abstract as the thing which Capital in the abstract is seeking to wrong and oppress. It will be well for American workingmen when they let go these fallacies and cease to be made cats-paws of by their demagogic leaders; when they are self-respecting and independent enough not to yield to an irresponsible leader's demand for the strike and boycott against their own better judgment and inclinations. If we would have a permanent government, the people, who are the government, must be intelligent and independent thinkers, loyal to their own best interests, loyal to the right, and not the tools of self-seeking demagogues and frothy agitators. Woe to our liberties when American workingmen are ready to sell themselves for a mess of pottage!

The Nicaragua Canal must and will secome a subject of increasing public importance, for the time is close at it—not to speak of the political and possibly military advantages—or whether it shall be built by English influence and English money. In the latter event, American commerce would pay toll to foreign capital and the unparalleled opportunity given by nature for our natural national development would be utilized by a foreign power. This subject has been discussed so many times and over so long a period, and so many failures majority in control, it was not to be expected that we could escape some kind of a revolution in the tariff pol-

Hon. J. D. Holden, formerly national president of the Citizens' Alliance, has written a book in which he denounces the attitude of the Populist party toward re-forms, claiming that it can accomplish no good because its creed is defective. He says an effort must be made to hold the balance of power as independent voters instead of Populists. If this is done, he declares that either or both of the old political parties will cease antagonizing what is good in the reform movement, and that by holding the balance of power the Alliance can elect such men of either party as are pledged to reform movements.

As it is among the every-day people that really natural types of characters are to be found, it is in the stage characters of Harrigan's that we find much stronger drawing than in plays of a higher class. That they are true studies of title as it is lived every day in certain portions of the great crities no observant man meed be told. The tough girl and her brother, who is a master with the "dukes," the several darkey types, the tramps, the bobo, the pawn-broker and other characters that have existence along the New York Howery, are depicited with the hand of a master in the art of genere painting. The finicky play-goer who demands of the stage presentation nothing but the drama of swell-dom will object, no doubt, to the horse-play, elsap, dash and incompruity of Mr. Harrigan's creations, but to the student of character they are quite as clean cut and clever as anything we know of in the modern-day drama. The plot of "Reilly and the 400" is the very least important part of the play, but the shander thread is amply sufficient for the play-hulder's purpose. The songs are full of the spirit of Mr. Harrigan's gentus and there is a go to the choruses and the dances that are very fetching and earn many encores. The competitive lig dance in the second act of last night's performance was strikingly readstite and the part taken in the y mma. Pollock as Maggie Murphy was an artistic success.

The play-goer who wants to be entertained with life like photographs of life in the purileus should not fail to see Mr. Harrigan and his company, all of whom are well fitted for their several roles. "Reilly and the 400" sail be repeated to-night and at the matines on Saturday. Tomorrow night "Old Lavender," said by the critics, to be the playwright's masterpiece.

Republican Club Meeting Held Last Evening.

The Young Men's League Moves into Its New Quarters on Second Street.

Third Ward Republicans Organize Strong Club—Election of Offi-cers — The Afro-American League.

The new rooms of the Young Men's Republican League at No. 221% South Spring street were opened last evening to the members of the league and their friends. The Young Men's League has been hard at The Young Men's League has been hard at work this year re-establishing itself, and it has succeeded far beyond expectation in its endeavors. The members of the organisation now number several hundred, and it is proposed to establish many branch leagues throughout the county.

An informal meeting was held in the new rooms last evening, and after President Kinney had called up the order of business Messrs. Spencer G. Millard and James McLachian made brief addresses, in which they discussed political questions in a general and pleasing way.

The league's quarters are admirably adapted to the purpose of the young Republicans, but it is very probable that it will be necessary to enlarge them if members continue to come in at the rate they have done in the past.

THIRD WARD REPUBLICANS. Getting in Shape for the Coming

Getting in Shape for the Coming Campaign.

The Third Ward Republican Club, which has not met since the last campaign, was reorganized last evening in Justice Austin's courtroom. The attendance was an unusually good one, and a long list of names was added to the club roll. While embracing Republicans of the Third Ward generally, the club promises to be a strong factor in the anti-Lindley element in the county fight, as, indeed, are all of the clubs thus far formed. In fact, it is now difficult to calculate where the Lindley influence is coming from, so strong is the feeling against the ring combine. The Third Ward, however, is supposed to be the Lindley stronghold, for the would-be boss' followers have decided to stand or fall by the delegation from that district.

When the meeting was called to order last evening by A. C. Hine it was resolved that the club should proceed under the When the meeting was called to orde last evening by A. C. Hine it was resolved that the club should proceed under the old plan of business and elect a new set of officers.

The Committee on Permanent Organization being ready to report, J. J. Neimore and S. C. Young were placed in nomination for president, J. J. Neimore received, nineteen votes and Young eighteen: Neimore was declared elected, P. M. received, nineteen votes and Young eighteen; Neimore was declared elected. P. M. Alexander, corresponding secretary; Woodland, treasurer; Sheprard, sergeant-at-arms. The selective of the Executive Committee was deferred until next meeting, August 20. This was the largest colored representation meeting ever held in the city, showing that more interest will be taken in this campaign than any previous one known. This league will cover all of Southern California. Being as it is in favor of honest government and opposed to rings cliques, and bossism, it will form quite an important factor.

THE DEMOCRACY.

Candidates for the Governorship-General Gossip.

The San Francisco Chronicle of Mon-day gives the following gossip about the gubernatorial and other candidates, who will come before the Democratic State

"The question of the chairmanship of the Democratic State Convention, which will meet at the Baldwin Theater next Monday, appears to have already been practically determined in favor of ex-Congressman Thomas J. Clunie.

"There will, however, be a show of opposition, at least, for Jere Lynch is also in the fight.

"The friends of James V. Colemas say that he was offered the honor of presiding over the convention, but deckned it on account of previous engagements.

"James H. Budd is a favorite with many of the southern delegates, and will be urged to handle the gavel.

"The question of indorsing Cleveland and the national administration is a matter which bids fair to be hotly debated in the convention, and may be the rock upon which it may split. There are many who favor condemning the administration for its course on the tariff, Hawaiian, gilver and other vital questions, but the conservatives are already at work straining every effort to prevent such a course being taken.

"The railroad question is another lasue that may prove a firebrand. The city delegation appears to be dominated by the conservatives, and if their temper is any indication of what may be expected from the country delegates, the resolutions adopted on the Reilly Funding Bill and similar issues will be most temperate in tone.

"Considerable interest is taken in the probability of Congressman James G. Maguire becoming a candidate. His friends appear to be quietly at work on a good-sized boom for their favorite, and yet they claim not to know whether he would accept the nomination. He is credited with having said that he did not thin this would be a good year for a Demo create nomination, and to have expressed to be returned to Congress atic nomination, and to have expressed preference to be returned to Congress im the Fourth District. Coleman is again a candidate for the place and is ready to make a lively fight with his litterary bureau. Should he not be selected for this leading office some less conspicuous but equally important office would not be refused by him.

"Ex-Senator Patrick Reddy is a candidate who would accept a nomination if it were given him in a complimentary and satisfactory manner. John R. Glascock and W. W. Foote, both of Alameda, are regarded as in the line of availables. Barney D. Murphy of Santa Clars was at one time regarded as a conspicuous candidate, but his enthusiasm is reported to have waned somewhat.

"Judge Niles Searls of Nevada county has many warm friends who will present his claims: Senator Ostrom, of Yuba is very strong in the North, and Senator Langford of San Joaquin has hosts of active friends. A. B. Butler, the raisingrower of Fresno, also would like to make the canvass for Governor.

"For Supreme Justice there is a goodly number of aspirants. First in the list may be placed Jackson Temple, who is reported to have expressed a preference to rounding out his honorable life career in a judical rather than executive position. "The southern part of the State favors Byron Waters of San Bernardino, Judge Henry S. Foots, Judge J. K. Alexander of Monterey and Judge A. A. "Judge James E. Murphy of Del Norte is the favorite of the Northern delegation, and, as the nominations will probably be made with a view to recognizing the different sections of the State, he bids fair to carry off one of the prizes.

"For Railroad Commissioner Supervisor James Denman is mentioned, although his objective point is believed to be the office of Mayor of this city. Thomas Ashworth, ex-Superintendent of Streets, is a formidable candidate, and the friends of Supervisor Hinton are talking him up. Henry H. Scott, the non-partisans' candidate for Sheriff in the last campaign, is willing to make a canvass for Railroad Commissioner. Frank H. Gould, the Stockton attorney, who was Speaker of the last Assembly, is being urged by his friends for a member of the board "For the State Board of Equalization James C. Nealon, ex-Assessor of this city, and J. C. Gorman, formerly chief deputy under Controller John P. Dunn, are candidates. Both these aspirants have considerable backing.

"For Attorney-General H. C. McPike of Alameda appears to have the field to himself up to date.

"For State Printer John J. Curry has a large backing both among the city and the interior delegates. Louis P. Ward, the typo-athlete, is also on the political carpet."

Ex-Mayor W. H. Workman is men-tioned as a candidate for the Democratic mination for Lieutenant-Governor. Republicans all over the city are or-ranizing, and clubs under the general olan proposed by the State Central Com-nittee, will probably be formed in every mittee, will processed ward.

the Streets in Canton.

In view of the present trouble in China, the following from Rev. Clarence Resves, under date of June 18, from Macso, to his parants in Rediands, is of interest:

"In my last I spoke of the plague in Camton and Hong-Kong. But it is not the plague that has driven us to Macso. The authorities in Hong-Kong, to stop the spread of the disease, took the sick to a hospital erected for the purpose. This made the Chinese very angry, and they told that 400, who had been taken there, where to be sent to England, there to be ground up for medicine for the royal family.

"So placards were posted up warning all Chinamen against taking medicine or anything from the foreigners.

"On Monday the house boy came up and told Miss Dr. Halverson that a man with the plague was on the doorstep. She went down and asked him if he wanted to go to the hospital boat at Khux-Fan and he said yes, asking for a drink, which she gave him.

"She started to find a boat to take him.

the crowd had it all their own way. She fainted once and they threw a bucket of water on her and brought her to consciousness.

"Witen they reached the sand lot they commenced pelting her with stones. Just as she feel, stunned by their blows, one of the Custom men heard the noise, and opening his back door, got her inside and thus saved her life.

"The Commissioner of Customs immediately sent strops to protect us and we were usized to stay inside our houses, as everything would be destroyed if the Chinese found we were away.

"The trouble increased and the Chineamen finally distributed placards, very generally, calling upon the people to rise as a man and destroy the missionaries and everything belonging to threm.

"The Consul finally advised us all to go with our goods to Macao for a time at least."

Outlined.

The last meeting of the board of managers of the Y.W.C.A. was full of interest today. Plans for the next season's work were under discussion, and it was found that changes in the building now occupied by the association can be made and a small half arranged for the larger classes. It is thought this can be accomplished by September I.

An enthusiastic vote of thanks was given to Mrs. W. C. Patterson when it was announced that she would loan her own plane to the association for six months. By that time it is hoped that sufficient funds will be on hand to make a considerable cash payment on an instrument that shall be the property of the Y.W.C.A.

The Police Commission adopted a resolution yesterday recommending to the City Council that the salaries of all officers of the police department be raised, from the captain of police down to patrolmen. The proposed raise was suggested by the circumstances brought out by the death of Detective Benson. The resolution will be sent to the City Council when that body convenes for its next regular meeting. Regarding the Schurtz Heense there was comsiderable discussion. Schurtz had insisted that after his retail license had been revoked last month that he sold no beer by the glass up to the last of August, and when the City Clerk directed him to pay the back license, when a renewal was granted, he refused. This was after the license had been renewed. The board ordered that the Schurtz license be revoked unless the amount of the tax in arrears be paid. Mayor Rowan was the only dissenter on the vote.

J. A. Fodden and W. E. Logan, upon recommendation of the Chief, were appointed dog catchers. Hereafter all dogs not having license tags attached to their collars will be taken to the city pound.

the defendant's negligence on August 3 last.

In her complaint, Mrs. Howard ailleges that she boarded a cable train, operated by the defendant corporation, at First and Main streets, for the purpose of riding out to Seventh street; that while she was sitting upon the front seat of the dummy the gripman failed to throw the rope, when he reached the corner of Seventh street and Grand avenue, with the result that the grip struck the frog and stopped the car with such suddenness as to throw her violently forward, her head striking against the iron railing in front of the car, to her severe injury.

J. C. Sheldon, who was sitting upon the same seat with Mrs. Howard, also commenced suit yesterday. He sake for $25,000 damages, alleging that the accident resulted in injury to his throat, which has occasioned the loss of his voice.

PROBATE MATTERS.

In the Probate Court yesterday Jesse D. Hunter filed petitions for letters of administration to the estates of William and Mary E. Hunter, deceased, his parents, who were murdered by his brotherin-law, John Craig, on July 25 hat.

The estate of William Hunter, deceased, which is valued at $42,129.43, consists of personal property, estimated at $13,329.43, and the following real property, situated in this and San Bernardino counties: An undivided one-fourth of the Hunter ranch of 240 acres, valued at $7675; the Hunter homestead of fifty acres, adjoining said ranch, $4000; an undivided eleven-twentieths of a tract of 266 acres in the Rancho San Rafsel, $1375; a tract of minety-four acres in said rancho, $3660, four houses and lots on Castelar street, $5940; house and lot on Buena Vista street, $1750, and two lots and hotel at Beaumont, $400.

Mrs. Hunter's estate, if that of her husband, consisted of community property, is valued at about $20,000; but if not, then her separate estate is estimated at $13,000.
Both died intestate.

The next of kin and heirs at law are Joseph Hunter, aged 34; George Hunter, aged 32; Jesse D. Hunter, aged 27—sons of the deceased; and the grandchildren
William Craig, aged 8, John Craig, aged 6, and Emily E. Craig, aged 2.

BOYLE HEIGHTS.

"Jack the Chaser" Terrorizing Girls and Women.

If Officer Williams can get his hands on the fellow who has been hanging around Brooklyn Heights for a week past of evenings, and frightening little girls and timid women, the man will probably come to the conclusion that the climate of the Heights does not suit his case exactly. For some time reports have been coming in about the actions of this "Tom the Chaser," who makes a practice of following every woman or girl he meets, in some cases frightening them so badly as to cause them to take refuge in the nearest house. About a week ago a lady came to Mr. Williams's house and said she had been trailed by a fellow who took to his heels and ran when she turned to the officer, dealing to the officer.

Ago. Harry Hunter of No. 1820 Pennsylvania avenue left a few days since for the East, on a trip of combined business and

OUR BOAD SYSTEM.

Its Shortcomings—How to Get Good Roads at Cost.

Its Shortcomings—How to Get Good Roads at Cost.

EL MONTE, Aug 14, 1894.—(To the Editor of The Times:) For many years the taxpayers have been groaning under the wretchedness of our highways. In the space of twelve years nearly a million of dollars have been expended upon them, and what is there to show for it? The trouble is in the present system or rather in the want of a proper system. Under it any amount, even millions, might be expended, the result would be as heretofore, towit: Bleeding of the taxpayers and execrable roads. What is the trouble? Answer: The workings of our road law are not near enough to the people; we hire what we should do ourselves, and the supervision is unavoidably inadequate. What would be thought of a farmer who hired all his work—manual and team—and paid in spot cash the biggest wages for the smallest (eight hours) day's work? Supposing, also, that these employees were not looked after or supervised by the farmer oftens: than three or four times a year. Considering that "How not to do it" is the average practice of employees under such provocations, what would be the net result to the average farmer? Ruin, of course! No merchant would have such a shiftless farmer on his books. Substitute Los Angeles county for such a farmer and you have the case in a nutshell. This is not all. Too many taxpayers—thoughtless, to use a mild term—will deliberately deface or destroy highways, after they have, at great expense, been graded. If remonstrated with, they will say, "Let the road-master regrade." That is to say, let the taxpayer pay, or throw away a dollar for 25 cents worth of return. Where a road law invites inefficiency, fraud, and extravagance, will not those results certainly and continuously follow? The above are just what the present road laws are responsible for. Could a more perfect system be devised for looting the texpayers? None, so far as I can see. What is the remedy? Answer: Let the people, do their own work, leaving the road-master in the first instance. Then let the proprietor would follow?

First—At least $50,000 would annually be saved to the taxpayers of Los Angeles county.

Second—The proprietor would do a ten or twelve hours honest and intelligent day's work on his own readside and not mind it.

Third—A rivalry between adjoining neighbors, to have their roadside and the outside of their farms look the best; a great situalus to public taste, and a great enhancement of values for selling purposes, for the purchaser is always influenced by the outside looks of a place.

Fourth—Every proprietor who has to work the roads very likely will consider his neighbor's road work, and also, watch very closely the roadmaster, who, in turn, would do his utmost. Hundreds of interested taxpayers, without cost to the public, voluntarily and constantly supervise the roads; they will do what the County Supervisors. If ever so active and efficient, cannot do.

Fifth—The theory of road taxing is that what one pays (except it be for the general public, such as for bridges, etc.,) is for his own special benefit, as well as for that of the public. But the taxpayer now is the last one to get the benefit of his own payments. Thus, a neighbor, in the past twenty-five years, has paid at least $600 for road taxes. The roadmaster in this time has not done $50 worth of work, although much more was needed, on the road adjoining his premises. The remaining $550 has been spent or wasted elsewhere. An object leason, illustrating the above points, was lately seen in Monrovia. Its streets, overgrown with grass and weeds, looked very dilapdiated. Its common Council ordered that proprietors "on or by a sertain date must begin to clean the streets; otherwise, etc." On the day appointed the various streets were throughly cleaned, and the city had resumed its oustomary smart appearance. The total cost was superintendance and printing, about $10. Under the county system, the same work would have cost weeks of time, hundreds of dollars, and been shabbily done.

Here this question is pertinent: How are our present road troubles to be remedied? Answer: Change the laws; bring their workings, and all that pertains to roads, nearer to the people. Then they will do themselves, instead of hiring. Money saving, promptness and quickness in road-making (for many hands will make the work light,) good taste and patriotism will replace the present looting system. Question, significant flow can this change be accomplished? Only by legislation. Further, as the time is near to choose representatives for Sacramento, it will not be amiss for the gentlemen of the different conventions to see to it that the nominees have distinct and intelligent ideas on the road question.

LIOS ANGELES, Aug. 13, 1894.—(To the Editor of The Times:) I would any your assistance in caring to a weak-minded newsboy. He is good-looking, not large. assistance in caring to a weak-minded newsboy. He is good-looking, not large, but active, so that you have not notices his weakness as his bright face appeared at your counter. All of the faculties are present, but weak. For sixteen years he has suffered a severe rectal stricture, rendering inoperative the sympathetic nerves which supply blood to the brain. Four hundred doctors in your city do not believe that nerves of thought fun to that organ, but yesterday I found two who did, and had the stricture removed without pain. Today the blood circulates in his head, and improvement, will be rapid. I would prefer to have him stay at the County Hospital for three or four days, when I would like to have him go to some kindly-disposed person, who wants an active orphan boy, who can well earn his way; or, if he can have a home to go out from it selling papers. Such person may write to my address and get a boy who is in no way rough, and thus check a movement now on foot to send him to a place which I call a prison or home for weak-minded, where cure is not attempted. One, a complete ldiot, begins to talk in thirty days and lifts his dragging feet from the walk by having certain nerves released. It is as easy to cure as crime or other sickness, by "instantaneous blood circulation."

Dr. Price's Baking Powder

The manufacturers of Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder are gratified to announce a confirmation of the unprecedented honors gained by them at the World's Columbian Exposition. At the recent California Midwinter International Exhibition they received the Highest Award and Gold Medal for baking powder bestowed at that splendid and highly successful fair. The award in each case was due to demonstrated on thorough analysis by expert chemists. The official examination showed Dr. Price's to be strongest in leavening power, pure in all ingredients and perfectly wholesome. In every particular it surpassed its competitors. The awards were made unanimously by reliable juries.

These awards establish, permanently, on highest auth-

THE big Dress Goods Department is showing new Fall Dress Goods—Covert Cloths. They are the best thing in the Dress Goods line for Fall Suits. Covert Cloths don' forget the name. After a few weeks they will be called for every hour in the day. Everybody will be wanting Covert Cloths. Mohair Crepon Jacquards. They come in blacks and colors, and are the proper thing for a dusty country; 65c for 38 to 40 inch goods. The blacks have the brilliant finish that can only be had from the fiber of the finest goat's wool. These goods were made in Bradford, England, the place where they make the best Mohairs in the world. If you want something really fine buy the better goods at a dollar a yard. Last season the same goods were sold for $1.25, and they were considered cheap then. The reduction in the tariff has been anticipated in the marked reduction that we are now making on the goods. We have a little lot of extra choice Black Dress Goods that we are offering at $1.50 a yard. Ladies who are looking for an article of real merit and a very dressy Black Goods will find this class of goods will more than meet their expectations. We have a nice line of new novelties in Black Mohair Crepons at $1.25 a vard. One of the best things in All-wool Dress Goods is a lot of patterns copied from the finest French novelties. We are selling them for 50c a yard. Don't fail to see this line of goods before they are all sold. They are remarkable values and the newest things out in low priced goods. Covert Cloths make excellent capes. We are making Capes free of charge this week for all who buy their materials and trimmings here. This is to keep a large number of hands busy during the dullest part of the year. Don't you need a Cape for the fall. Nine different shades of Covert Cloths to select from. Buy Covert Cloths for dresses, or, what is better, get a full suit. The dress and cape to match. Then you will have a stylish suit and the expense will be trivial compared with the elegance of the material. Make it a point to call and see the new Coverts and the new Crepon Jacquards. They are the latest novelties in the new dress goods string.

A clever method of signaling between the hosemen and the enginemen at fires has been adopted in Boston. Two insulated wires are passed through the fabric of the hose, full protected from external nal damage, and wholly clear of the waterway. These are fastened into the metal couplings between the several sections, and so arranged that when the couplings are screwed up the electrical connection is complete. A push button is placed in the couplings to which the nozale is attached, and, pressing this, the hoseman instantly communicates with the engineman, and, by a code of signals, conveys any desired information. The additional control thus given over the working of the hose effects a great saving of both water and water damage, besides lessening the chance of confusion by obviating the necessity of wheating, During the testing of the hose signal, water was shut off and received at the nozale in two seconds after the electric signal was given, the hose having first been filled.

Hon. Spencer G. Millard's Address the Northwest Improve ment Association - Some

At the request of the members of the Northwestern Los Angeles Improvement Association, Hon. Spencer G. Millard, Republican nomines for Lieutenant-Governor, uppeared before that body at its head-quarters, comer of Montreal and Sandwirests, and delivered an eloquent address apon the subject, "The Duty a Citizen Dwes to His City," last night.

Atther a few memoratory remarks in Owes to His City," last night.

After a few preparatory remarks in which he expressed regret that, owing to press of business and the innumerable duties which demanded his time and attention just now, he had been unable to prepare himself so thoroughly as he desired, Mr. Millard proceeded as follows:

"I believe every citizen owes to his city the duty of taking an interest in public affairs.

"The State—I am the State," was the

"The State—I am the State, was the boast of an Emperor of France. This was undoubtedly the boast of a despot and the man who made it lived to learn that he alone did not constitute the State. But under our respublican form of mational, State and municipal government it can truthfully be said: 'The city—We, the citizens, are the city.'

"As every citizen is an integral factor of the city it becomes his duty to take an interest in and become familiar with the business of the city and to take an interest in everything that pertains to its material welfare. It is our duty as individual citizens to take an interest in and become familiar with those matters that effect us collectively as citizens. It is the duty of the citizen to become familiar or eatinly with the geography, its boulevands, its parks, its streets, its public buildings, its principal business industries. To become familiar with, the source and system of our water supply, with the nature and extent of our sewer system, our transportation and lighting facilities, and last, but not least, to become familiar with the character, the extent and the efficiency of our public-achool system.

It is our duty, also, to know something about its resources and its indutres, and to see to it that our money, the citizens' money, is honestly and economically expended. But, again, I believe it is our duty as citizens to take an interest in public affairs, and see to it that our money, the citizens' money, but it begins at the caucuses and the primaries, where delegates are selected to control and superintend the affairs of the city, And, in this respect, our duty does not first begin at the ballot-box on election day, but it begins at the caucuses and the primaries, where delegates are selected to no molinating conventions. If men are sent as delegates to conventions who have at heart the best interests of the city, only honorable and upright, none will be placed in nomination of men are asent as delegates to conventions, takes a good delicense the will of the people i

Mr. Millard urged upon the citizens their uty to inaugurate and encourage improvements, and paid a high tribute to the their efforts in that line, as shown by ir expenditures for the sewer system, bile schoolhouses and paved streets, made a strong plea for the extension improvements of the public parks

d, said:

"I never like to hear a man question the expetuity of our American institutions, or I believe in doing so he slanders the ntelligence and the patriotism of the merican people. It is also a man's duty be loyal to the State in which he lives, and especially when he has the privilege of lying in such a State as the grand old late of California, a State second largest a the Union, with its diversified industions, its fertile valleys and lofty mountains, its magnificent scenery and superbilmate and containing within its borders sarrly a million and a half of the most atriotic and enterprising people to be ound anywhere beneath the Stars and iripes. It is also a citizen's duty to be oral to the city in which he lives, when lives in what is today the most enterming and flourishing city on the Pacificant. to speak upon the subject of "The Citizen and His Duty to His City."

Mr. Millard's address, which appears in another column, was very well received, and, at its close, he was cordially invited to deliver an address at the public meeting, to be held later on with reference to the proposed improvement of Elysian Park, which he promised to do.

The business before the meeting was thereupon proceeded with. Thomas Kelly of the Committee on Street Rallways reported that his committee had waited upon Mr. Clark of the Electric Rallway Company at 5 p.m. for the purpose of learning his views upon the Elysian Park road, but that gentleman failed to keep his appointment, consequently nothing was done.

Mr. Kelly also reported that he and his fellow-committeemen waited upon D. F. Donegan, but that gentleman, after figuring a little, informed them that he did not think he cculd, owing to the hard times, carry out the proposition he made at the last meeting with reference to the road.

S. A. Waldron of the special committee on printing the prize-assay reported that bids had been received from two members of the association, but upon motion of Mr. Kelly the printing of the directars was deferred for the present and said bids were therefore not considered.

Mr. Waldron of the Committee on the Chain Gang System reported that after a thorough investigation of the subject the committee had found that it was a very expensive luxury to employ the city's prisoners, as it cost three times as much to do the same amount of work as it could be thorough investigation of the subject the committee had found that it was a very expensive luxury to employ the city's prisoners, as it cost three times as much to do the same amount of work as it could be done for by contract. A case in point was the work done at First and Flower streets a few days ago by the chain gang. A contractor put in a bid to do the work for $440, but he bid was rejected, and it cost the city just $1620 to do it.

J. M. Davies of the same committee suggested the advisability of utilizing the chain gang at Elysian Park, and Mr. Waldron expressed himself as of the opinion that the men would do a better day's work if offered an incentive in the shape of a commutation of sentence as a reward.

Councilman Infes, in response to the queries of several members, said he thought there would not be any objection upon the part of the Council to put the men to work on the Elysian Park roads, but that he was of the opinion that it would be economy for the city to hire a bus and drive the men round town for an airing every day instead of taking them out to work.

Upon motion of Mr. Kelly Councilman Innes was requested to use his best endeavor in the Council Chamber to get the chain gang transferred to Elysian Park, and, upon motion, Messrs. Kelly, Galbraith, Waldron and McLain were appointed a special committee to wait upon the Council and back Mr. Innes up. pointed a special committee to wait upon the Council and back Mr. Innes up. Mr. Gabrath of the Committee on Initiative and Referendum reported that a statement drawn up by a young attorney named Baker was in his possession, but upon motion of D. F. Donegan the matter was made a special order for the next meeting.

As published in The Times yesterday As published in The Times yesterday morning, the Hermitage Vineyard Company, through J. C. C. Price, their salesman, who is charged with the embezzlement of several hundred dollars, which it is claimed he collected, but failed to account for, sqld a couple of half-barrels of brandy to A. E. Littleboy, the druggist, on June 2 last, which bore stamps already used, calling for liquor of a better quality than that which was sold. Liast evening Mr. Machris called at the Times office and stated that he and his associates would have no trouble in clearing themselves when the case came to trial. He claimed that the whole thing was an attempt on the part of the ex-salesman, Price, who, he claims, has retained $500 of the firm's money, for which he wished to give his nete, and when his proposition was refused, threatened to make trouble for them, which he has done.

The Suit Club Man Beturned from San Diego.

Constable Richardson returned from San Diego yesterday, bringing with him F. O. Ziegler, who is wanted here for running a suit club in a fraudulent manner.

Ziegler is the manager of the Co-oper suit club in a fraudulent manner.

Ziegler is the manager of the Qo-operative Merchant Tailoring Company, and has conducted business according to the peculiar methods of his company in various cities throughout the State. Their speciality is the organization of suit clubs, every member of which is guaranteed a suit provided he will only pay his dollar a week and hang on long enough. Some of them paid a dellar a week and hung on for a long, long time, but somehow the expected suit always failed to materialize. Consequently, when it became known last week that Ziegler had left town, an outcry was raised and J. M. Woodthorpe of the Burbink Theater, who was one of those victimized, swore to a complaint against—the enterprising exponent of the suit-club idea, charging him with contriving, preparing, setting up and drawing a lottery. Several other victims of an overweening desire to get a new suit without paying full money for it have testified their anxiety to prosecute Mr. Ziegler, and will appear as witnesses against him.

The manager of the Co-operative Merchant Tailoring establishment considers himseff a very ill-used man indeed. He for it have testined their anxiety to proceed the Mr. Ziegler, and will appear as witnesses against him.

The manager of the Co-operative Merchant Tailoring establishment considers himself a very ill-used man indeed. He says he didn't leave Los Angeles in order to get away from the authorities.

"I've been conducting my business as usual at San Diego for the past two months," says Mr. Ziegler, "during which time I have stopped at the best hotel in San Diego. Does that look as though I was trying to get away? If my business is illegal, then every church fair lottery in the country is illegal and should be dealt with by law."

He also feels badly because he was arrested for felony at San Diego and only arraigned for a misdemeanor before Justice Austin in the Police Court yesterday.

That Mr. Ziegler thoroughly understands the peculiar weakness which besets mankind and makes them ever anxious to get something for nothing is evident from the fact that the suit club is not his first venture in the lottery line. The authorities say that he was formerly interested in a watch club here as agent for the Imperial Watch Company of San Francisco.

ABOUT FREIGHT RATES.

The Complaint of a Resident of The Palms Replied to.

Some days ago a comparative statement of freight rates as charged in this coun-try and in Europe was published by The Times, and attracted the attention of a farmer at The Palms. This farmer did no believe that rates were really lower in the United States than in European coun-tries, and to illustrate his point he stated in a letter that a merchant at his place had had occasion to order a carload of coal shipped from Los Angeles, and that he paid freight charges thereon at the rate of $2 per ton, the distance being twelve miles. The farmer also asserted that reg-ular freight charges for ordinary merchan-dise between Los Angeles and The Petandise between Los Angeles and The Palm were $1.60 per ton, and claimed that the cost of transportation of household goods from the Missouri River to Los Angeles was $200 per car. Upon this showing he believed the system of freight rates excessive and much greater than those in force in Europe for similar distances.

J. M. Crawley, assistant general passenger and freight agent of the Southern Pacific Company, of whom inquiry was made regarding the farmer's complaint, stated in reply:

cific Company, of whom inquiry was made regarding the farmer's complaint, stated in reply:

"We looked up our records and find that the car of coal referred to was shipped November 6, 1893, and at that time our rate was $1.25 per ton from Los Angeles to The Palms. The shipment in question weighed 39,800 pounds, which, at $1.25 per ton, equals $24.88; so the statement that it cost over $2 per ton is rather misleading. If the shipment of coal had weighed 20,000 pounds, then it would have been over $2 per ton, but it weighed as above stated, 29,800 pounds. Since then we have reduced our rate to $1 per ton on coal from Los Angeles to The Palms.

"The rate on household goods from the East to Los Angeles is lower than the rate on household goods from Los Angeles to the East, and the reason for this, I assume, although I did not share in the work of making up the tariff, is owing to the large quantity of household goods that are shipped west-bound, as against the amount shipped east-bound, and the desire on the part of the transcontinental roads to do all they can to induce settlers to come from the East to this Coast."

Word was received at the police station carly last evening to the effect that a crowd of from ten to twenty Chinamen had been hanging about the residence of T. B. Burnett, president of the Terminal Railway, at No. 1968 Estrella avenue, all day. It was thought that the celestials were looking for a China woman, who is rumored to have been abducted from one of the houses on Los Angeles street a few days ago, and that they suspected that she was inside the house. Mr. Burnett has a China boy in his employ as a house stewart, but there is no Chinese woman anywhere about the place.

PASADENA, Aug. 14.—(Special Correpondence.) Something of a sensation has seen caused by the allegations of Frank secker, a citizen, who, by reason of domesic dimenties, has drawn to himself more reless public notice in the past. Today, o numerous audiences on Colorado street, see told a story which would be passing trange if it could be shown to be true.
See claims that some six months ago he orrowed of F. E. Burnham $50 and gave as security for the loan a diamond ring which Mr. Walker, a jewelry-dealer, had ronounced worth $75; that on Monday he had repaid the loan with interest, and was given back a ring which, on examinalon a few hours later, he discovered was not the same, but had in it a base paste mitation instead of the diamond. Becker lectared thus publicly that while the ring was in the possession of Burnham the set had been changed, and he proposed to bein a lawsuit to recover damages.
Mr. Burnham was seen at his grocery tore and asked for his side of the story, which had been given such publicity on he street, and he told it substantially as oldwis: "Four months ago Becker was alouse: "Four months ago Becker was oldwis: "Four months ago Becker was oldwis: "Four his hid for failure of the bonds to keep the peace, on a harge preferred by his wife, having aleady served two of the six months time deven him. Burnham had befriended the amily, which included two wayward girls to that time in Whittier Reform School, fund felt much sympathy for the wife.

It the request of Becker, Burnham visited min is all and consented to put $50 in hark to secure the bail required to release
ith. Herefore, The ring was shown to Mr.
Walker, who said it was a diamond and worth about $75. Four days after this pinion was given the ring passed into he possession of Burnham, it having, in he meantime, remained in Becker's keep-ring, while in Burnham's pocket, became accidentally bent and he took it to Walker's to have it straightened out, and Mr. Brockway, the jeweler, declared the trinket was not worth six bits.

Kit mackerel are more in Mr. Burnham's line than diamonds, and this latest opinion on the value of the jewel convinced him that the $50 was most probably sate, but he gave up hopes of getting the interest. Monday; Becker provided for his release from the bond, paid the $10 interest, was given the ring while yet in the bank, and went away. Several hours afterward he charged Burnham with having taken out the diamond and substituting therefor a worthless glass imitation.

If the proposition is accepted that all parties concerned in this matter are sinceres, it is a deep mystery which may lead to an interesting story. Mr. Walker says that the ring he saw Monday was not the same that he pronounced an opinion on some four months ago, and Mr. Burnham is not sure that ft is, for, as he explains, he did not get the ring from Becker until four days after the expert had pronounced it good. It might have been a different stone or wholly a different ring, for he does not claim to know anything about jewelry and precious stones. If the case goes into the court some further details may be elicited, but these are all that could be assertained today.

THE STEWART CASE.

Before Justice Merriam today Attorneys Rossiter and Arthur argued for a new trial for their client, Alex Stewart, who was last week found guilty of disturbance, in a jury trial. The attorneys argued for a new trial on the ground that the verdict was contrary to the evidence, and alleged misconduct of the jury. Justice Merriam took the master under advisement and will give a decision Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock. If a new trial is granted an interesting time is promised. It is asserted by a few friends who have is granted an interesting time is promised. It is asserted by a few friends who have stood by him through all his unpopularity, that Stewart's greatest fault has been to get into debt, and that he has been persecuted in consequence. On the occasion of bits arrest it appears he did not raise his hand and, it is claimed, did not even raise his voice. In a new trial it would be shown that it was simply a dispute between the two men that did not become noisy enough to constitute a disturbance.

A well-known citizen of Pasadena, signing himself "Pro Bono Publico," writes this to The Times:

"A small matter, but one that causes much annoyance to drivers of light vehicles, is the too frequent neglect of those who are making connections with the water-mains in the streets, to fail to puddle the ditch. In driving about the city to show the numerous new residences I have given my visiting friends a good many hard bumps, beside wrenching my own temper and the cauriage by passing over these improperly-filled ditches. The duty of the Street Superintendest is quity apparent in the premises. To instruct all making connections with any conduits in the street, whether gas, water or sewer connections, to puddle their ditches and leave a firm road, and if they neglect it, to make them attend to the

Two mysterious revolver shots, which broke the stillness of Sunday evening, near the corner of Wainut street and Cypress avenue, have caused some gossip in that neighborhood. The hour was about 9:30, and the targets at which the shots were aimed are said to have been two well-known young men, whose attentions toward some young women it was necessary to discourage in this summary manner. Owing to the unskilled marksmanship of the feminine shooter, the young men escaped untouched. A friend of the young women says that they mean business, and will pepper persistent suitors who will not take a hint.

SOUTH RIVERSIDE. Aug. 14.—(Special Correspondence.) The first Republican raily of the season was held at Stege's Hall last evening, and a rousing good time was had. There were about forty down from Riverside, including a number of the founty officers and their deputies. The hell was crowded and in the audience there there was more than a score of ladles and 200 or more voters. It was the meeting of the South Riverside Republican Crub, "enlarged and improved" by the presence of speakers and auditors from surrounding places. N. C. Hudson, the new president of the club, presided at the meeting, and the Mandolin Club and Campaign Quartette from Riverside enlivened the occasion with string music.

Upon the platform by the sode of the commanding presence of Chairman Hudson were seated Superior Judge J. S. Noyes, Dist. Atty. J. M. Anderson, Assessor Bradford Morse, School Superintendent Lyman Gregory, Orator Wilfred M. Peck, Attorney A. A. Caldwell, Vocalit H. T. Hays and clitzens.

The speechmaking was inaugurated by A. A. Caldwell, who spoke briefly respecting the Republican State candidates and the bringing of California into the Republican ranks.

Wilfred M. Peck delighted his hearers with his easy flow of oratory. He path his respects in plain language to speakers in the non-partisan movement, and the move itself. SAN BERNARDINO, Aug. 14.—(Special Correspondence.) A new organization has been effected in this city to be known as "The San Bernardino Mercantile Association." A number of the business men were quietly called together by petition, and the matter of working together to accomplish cartain desired legislation in the city government was discussed at considerable length. It seems that some of the merchants are not at all pleased with the attitude of the City Trustees in dealing with the Sunday closing of business houses, and they, after failing to secure a very great change in the city ordinance by promiscuous talking against it, have determined to come at the matter in a more orderly and methodical way; also to work with the County Supervisors to secure a modification of the license fees. It is claimed by those in the new organization that recent legislation, both by the City Trustees and County Supervisors, has been detrimental to the interests of the merchants of the city, driving much trade from their doors to other cities, and the organization is to secure the return of that trade to this city. The facts that have once more been taught by the fire of Monday at the powder, gasoline, coal oil, can be carried to Los Angeles Wednesday morning. That explosives, such as gast the powder, gasoline, coal oil, can be carried together, and that it carried together, it is rather risky to run as oldering outfit in the same building. That the old maxim, "in peace prepare for war," holds also in the matter of keeping up insurance. That it would perhaps pay Pomona not to depend alone on her water facilities and the pressure of the same, but to purchase an engine for the fire department which could be brought into requisition on just such an occasion as that of yesterday afternoon.

Inspector Shinn is spending the week there at present, in consultation with Superintendent Strachan, and visitors find in him an enthusiast who destrees positive pleasure in the investigation of tree and shrub life on this Southern Coast. Bankrupt Railroads. (Cincinnati Times-Star:) One hundred and fifty-two railroad companies in the United States, operating 43,226 miles of oad, or nearly a quarter of all the miles of the country, and representing $500,000. 000, are now in the hands of receivers. In the first half of the current year 2988 miles of road went into the control of courts and this additional mileage represented $260,101,000, but the disasters of the first half of 1894 fall far short of half the disasters of 1893. During that year the Reading system, the Erie, the Northern Pacific, the Santa Fe system and the St. Louis and San Francisco road were plunged into bankruptcy. Prominent among the roads that went into the hands of a receiver this year are the Atlantic and Paroads that went into the hands of a receiver this year are the Atlantic and Pacific, which is a part of the Santa Fe system, the Colorado Midland, the Oregon Railway and Navigation Company and the Cape Fear and Yadkin Vailey reute.
Among some of the smaller bankrupt roads which the courts have harvested in 1894, are the Chester and Lenoir, Texas, Louisiana and Eastern, Chickamauga and Durham, Jacksonville, Mayport' and Pueble, Owens Falls, Columbus and Western, the longest of which is 107 miles, the shortest fifteen. The following table shows how the railroads have suffered in the last decade, ending with 1893:

Stocks and

Total, 10 years 309 74.312 $3,875.651,000

The narrowness of the financial trouble which railroads have endured in 1894, in the record as now made up, will be a matter of more or less surprise to those who have given any thought to the serious disadvantages under which railroads have labored in the last few weeks. It must not be overlooked, however, that the results of the effort to play havoe in railroad property by the late strikers have not yet been calculated, the inability to pay fixed charges by reason of this havoe has not yet become manifest. It must also be ramembered that many of the railroad directly injured by the strikeers were already in the hands of receivers. Bankrupt railroads can not be bankrupted. $3,875,681,000 Total, 10 years.309 74,312

HEAVILY FINED.

KAUFMAN, THE LOTTERY VEN-DER, SEVERELY PUNISHED.

Only His Age Saved Him from Long Term of Imprisonment—A Sensational Scene in Court at the Conclusion of the Trial.

It was too bad that Max Kaufman and his attorney threw up the sponge in the middle of the trial yesterday morning and plea of guilty to the charge of selling lottery tickets on Sunday last, for the testimony of the witness on the stand at the time was very incresting, and both court and spectators would have been very glad to hear some more of it.

Officer E. W. McKinney saw Mr. Kautman sell a lottery ticket to a German named Andrew Meissen last Sunday mornamed Meissen last Sunday mornamed Andrew Meissen last Sunday mornamed Meissen l ing; he saw Meissen hand over the dollar ing; he saw Meissen hand over the dollar and take the ticket and put it in his pocket and he arrested both of them a few minutes later. Kaufman had not been in custody very long before a friend of his came along and got him out for $50 cash bail. The two of them then got Meissen out a few hours later by making a deposit of $100 with the police clerk. Yesterday morning when the case came up for trial before Justice Austin in the Police Court the officer took the stand and testified to having seen the occurrence as stated above. Deputy District Attorney Rush then called Meissen to the stand and asked him if he had had any money transactions with Kaufman on Sunday morning; if he had paid a dollar to Kaufman, and if he had received in return a lottery ticket from the defendant. All of these questions Meissen answered in the affirmative, and the witness was turned over to Kaufman's attorney for cross-examination. "Do you mean to say that Mr. Kaufman sold you that lottery ticket?" demanded the attorney, looking hard at the witness. "Yes, sir; dots vat I means to zay, replied Meissen.

"Didn't you tell Kaufman," thundered the baffied counsel for the defendant, "that you found that ticket behind the Germania saloon?"

The witness didn't like the question, or the shur on his veracity attached to it. "If you doan't look out," he said slowly, "I vill dell de whole pizness to de coourt."

"If you doan't look out." he said slowly, "I vill dell de whole pizness to de coourt."

"Just tell the court all about it," put in Mr. Rush, opportunely, at this point. "Vell," said the witness, settling himself back in his chair, with a sudden resolve, "dey wants me to testify vat I finds dot dicket in de vater cleest, back of de Germania saloon. But I dells dem dot I doan't do it, dots too thin."

The learned counsel for the defendant and the defendant himself looked very much crestfallen as this bit of information fell from the lips of the new complacent witness, and didn't want to hear any more of it, so they gave up the fight right there, and the defense collapsed utterly. They even walved time for sentence, and merely entered a plea for mercy.

Justice Austin said that he didn't see upon what ground they could ask mercy, or any mitigating circumstances connected with the affair. Accordingly, he sentenced Mr. Kaufman to $250, or 250 days, and intimated that if the defendant had been a young man, instead of old and feeble, he would have got the 256 days straight. Kaufman paid the fine.

Our Light Shines.

Last week the representative of the leading lamp manufacturer of the United States was in this city. He had with him 325 sample lamps on which he was taking orders for the holiday trade. Saturday he finished his business with the dealers of this city, and instead of repacking these lamps and shipping them to Denver to show the dealers there, he had another lot sent from the factory to Denver, and we purchased his sample line at a discount of 50 per cent. from the regular wholesale price. This makes the lamps cost us, laid down here in Los Angeles, about one-half the manufacturer's price on the Eastern coast. These lamps we shall place on sale in our basement this morning at 9 clock. There are no two lamps alike in the assortment; and no such lamp chance has ever been offered to the public of this city. The first lot of which we shall speak will be an assortment of Banquet Lamps, 94 different styles, made with all the embellishments of the most recent light arts now in vogue. The standards are lovely specimens of brass working. There are also some beautiful Mexican Onyx, cast and antique—finish stands; some being mounted in brass and some in silver. A beautiful new urn design is also shown in this collection. The usual price of these goods at retail would be from $3.50 to $20. Will find everything in the ready-to-wear tailored suits that can be found on this Coast centered here in this collection. Don't forget that we mean business in closing out this stock, about half of which has already been sold; but assortments are still good, and the cuts are deeper than ever.

Competition never can, never did and never will meet such prices as these. "Would-be" bankrupts not in it.

LADIES' WRAPPERS—Handsome style, fight and dark cambrics, well made in latest shapes, enough to last all day if too many are not sold in the morning; late price $1.25; now
